

CURRICULUM VITAE

NAME: Emily Gardner

ORGANIZATION: Department of Commerce
National Oceanic & Atmospheric Administration
National Marine Fisheries Service
Southwest Fisheries Science Center
8901 La Jolla Shores Drive
La Jolla, California 92037-1508
Office (858) 546-5646
Lab (858) 546-7098
emily.gardner@noaa.gov

PRESENT POSITION: Scientist III, Plankton Sorter

EDUCATION:

BA in Marine Science and Environmental Studies, University of San Diego, 2012

EXPERIENCE:

October 2014 – present: Scientist III, plankton sorter

National Marine Fisheries Service, NOAA
Southwest Fisheries Science Center
La Jolla, CA

April 2013-October 2014: Scientist II, plankton sorter

National Marine Fisheries Service, NOAA
Southwest Fisheries Science Center
La Jolla, CA

September 2012-January 2013: Volunteer Laboratory Technician

National Marine Fisheries Service, NOAA
Southwest Fisheries Science Center
La Jolla, CA

August 2012: US AMLR Scientific Cruise Zooplankton Team Member

National Marine Fisheries Service, NOAA
Southwest Fisheries Science Center

January 2011-March 2011: Laboratory Researcher

University of San Diego

October 2010-March 2011: Climate Fellow Intern

The San Diego Foundation and ICLEI Local Governments for Sustainability

RESEARCH INTERESTS:

Population dynamics and community ecology of marine fish and invertebrates

Early life history of marine fish and invertebrates

HONORS AND AWARDS:

Certificate of Outstanding Research in Marine Science from USD

Certificate of Outstanding Dedication to the Marine Science and Environmental Studies
Department from USD

The Office of Sustainability's Most Spirited Award from USD

PUBLICATIONS:REPORTS:*OTHERS: